Every year introduces new looks or revives old ones in fashion. The 1981-82 school year was no exception in fashion at Sherman High School. Making the scene this year were colorful displays of earthtones such as camel, rust, burgandy, and wine.

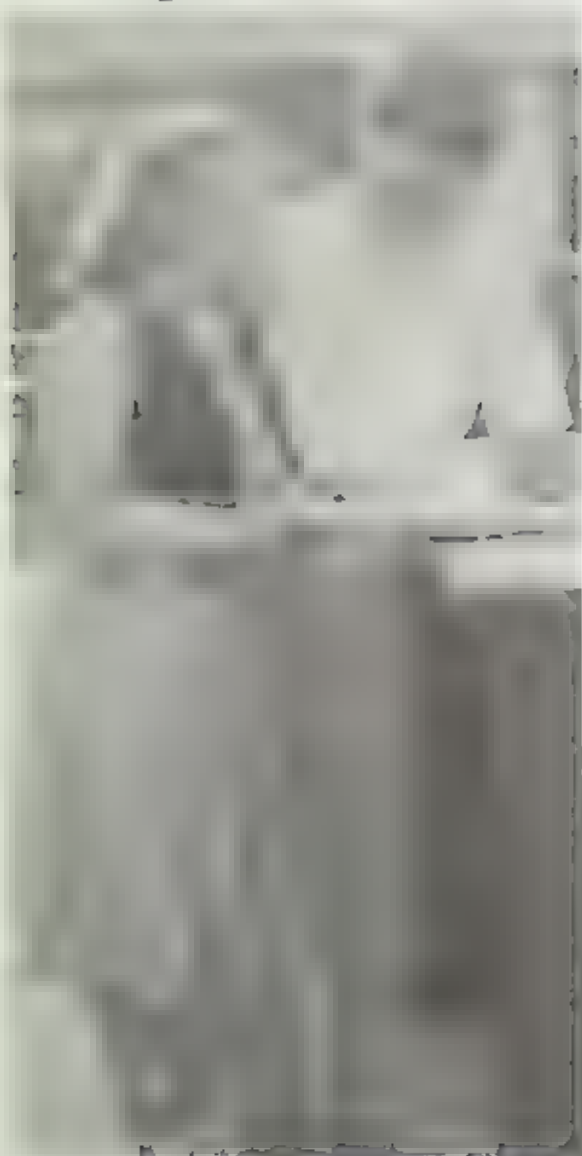

Blazers occupied a major portion of the fashion world. Easily dressed, up or down, blazers were worn with anything from sweaters and plaid skirts to boots and jeans. Other fashionable things for girls were ribbons, charm necklaces, and preppy shoes. For guys, sweaters, sport shirts, tweed pants, ski jackets and Nikes were a popular sight.

Each individual set out to accomplish some sort of goal as he pursued his high school career. For many the goal was to endure and pass another year of school. But for the more involved student, the goals included things like becoming class president, making the team, making straight "A's," or becoming an accomplished musician. The determination that went into achieving these personal aims gave each person a sense of fulfillment and triumph. It was the accomplishments of individuals that gave Sherman its proud character.

Both laughter and tears are all part of our high school memories. Times like these made our time at high school well worth remembering. Being with friends and learning and growing together gave us all a chance to mature and prepare ourselves to face the things ahead of us. Although we've grown up we still enjoyed being silly, and from time to time, the childishness in us pulled us through things. Each of us holds in our mind the images of laughter and love. These are our memories to be reflected upon and cherished forever.

Departments

Design and abstract part of art classes

Classes in the Art department enabled students to use their creativity and imagination to learn a variety of skills. They worked with charcoal, water colors, crayons, tempera paint, pens and pencils to express themselves through art.

Donna Craddock, an Art III student, commented, "It's a fun class but I really find it a challenge."

Business provides life and office skills

Sherman High School offers a variety of business oriented courses including accounting, business communications, business law, general business, record keeping, shorthand and typing. These courses help students who are planning a career in a business oriented occupation.

Through the teaching of typing, filing and working with figures the student is shown what to expect if he or she pursues a career in business. This department teaches students about the world of business in an interesting and inspiring way

Drama offers diversity

The Drama Department is one of the most diverse and exciting departments in school. This is the department that prepares students to become more effective in communications.

Drama students, under the leadership of Mr. Bob Watson, kept busy with their studies in acting, theater design and history, and costume design. They also participated in various dramatical productions. The highlight for this years drama students was their 1982 production of the "Rope Dancers."

English: Communication basis

Mythology, legends of the Middle Ages, Shakespeare and poetry were all exciting subjects studied this year in the English classes

In addition to grammar and composition, several novels were read. The Scarlet Letter, Huckleberry Finn, 1984, the Red Badge of Courage and the Lord of the Flies are a few examples

Some English teachers wrote topics on the board and had their students spend 3-7 minutes writing in a journal

In some classes the students were divided up into equal groups and given a section of an island and told to decide upon the climate, animals and what provisions they could take with them

English is a required course for all students throughout their high school years, and Advanced Placement or College English are available options to Seniors

Bilingualism New Fad

Foreign language classes taught not only routine vocabulary but also the customs and philosophies of foreign cultures. Foreign language classes stressed the importance of language in foreign relations and in bringing the world closer together through improved communication between countries.

Students developed their knowledge by listening to tapes in the lab, translating sentences, and studying vocabulary sheets.

Homemakers remain busy with activities

Students in the three levels of homemaking gained knowledge and skills relating to nutrition, food preparation, home management, clothing construction and textiles. Other areas studied include housing and interior design, child development, parenting, as well as consumer education.

Home and Family Living classes were designed to help students gain a better understanding of themselves which in turn helped them to better understand others. Some units include personality and character development, values and goals, family roles, love relationships, marriage, problems in the family, parenting and consumer education.

Homemaking

Skills: the object of industrial arts

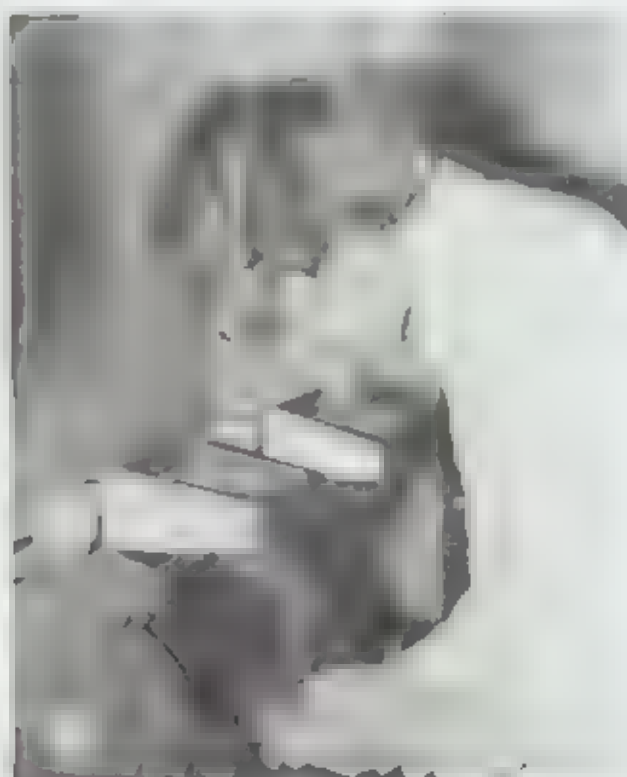

Pounding hammers, whirling drills and sounds of sawing were the familiar sounds heard in the Industrial Arts classes.

Students used their talent and skillful hands, creating masterpieces with the touch of their own creativity. As a result of Industrial Arts, students obtained inner satisfaction from their talents and ingenuity.

Industrial Arts classes include metal trades, drafting, and woodworking

Students gain first hand experience

Almost any field in the world of mass media is constantly growing and creating new job opportunities as it expands. Students taking Journalism I were given first hand experience in occupations related to newspapers, radio, magazines, and television.

Journalism I teaches students the basic skills in writing effective stories and laying out a newspaper. Seeing their own story and layout designs in print gave them an incentive to try harder and produce quality work.

Math Skills Multiply

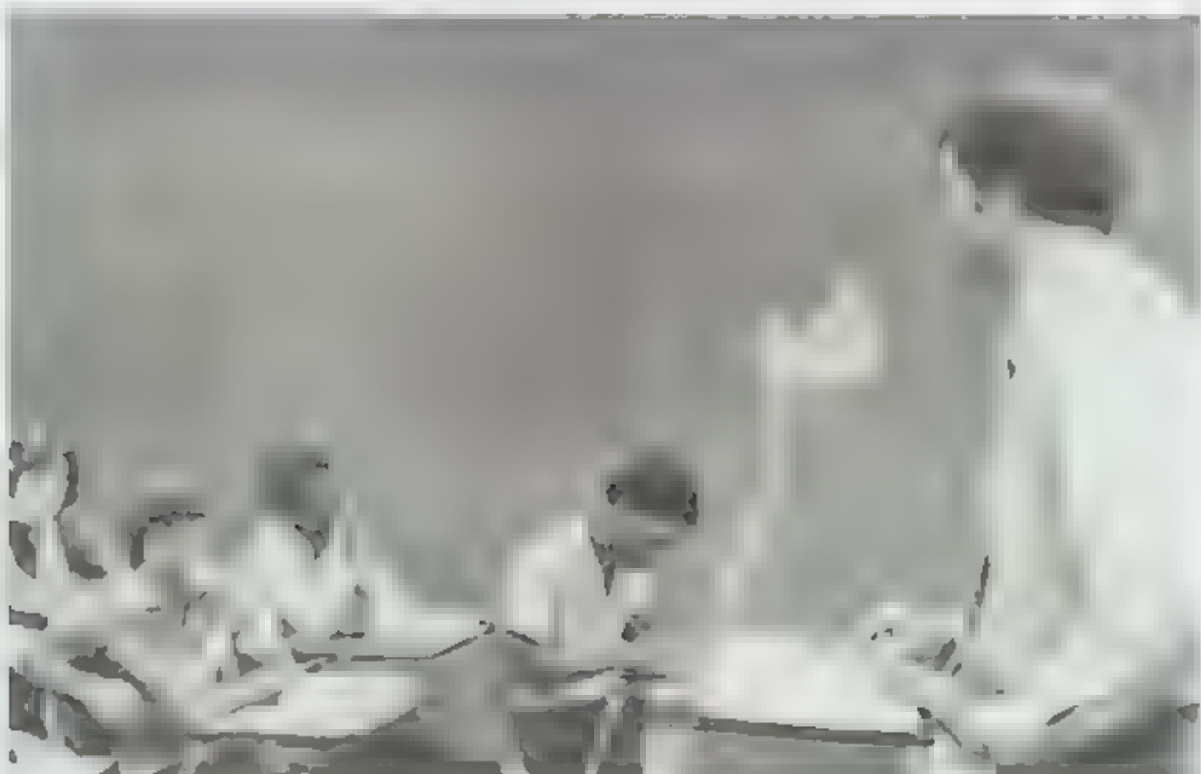

The Sherman High School mathematics department offers a wide range of mathematic courses to serve recognizably different levels of talent.

It is the department's commitment to create an environment in the school so each student may achieve mathematical literacy and may exercise, under proper guidance, the option to continue or to terminate the formal study of mathematics.

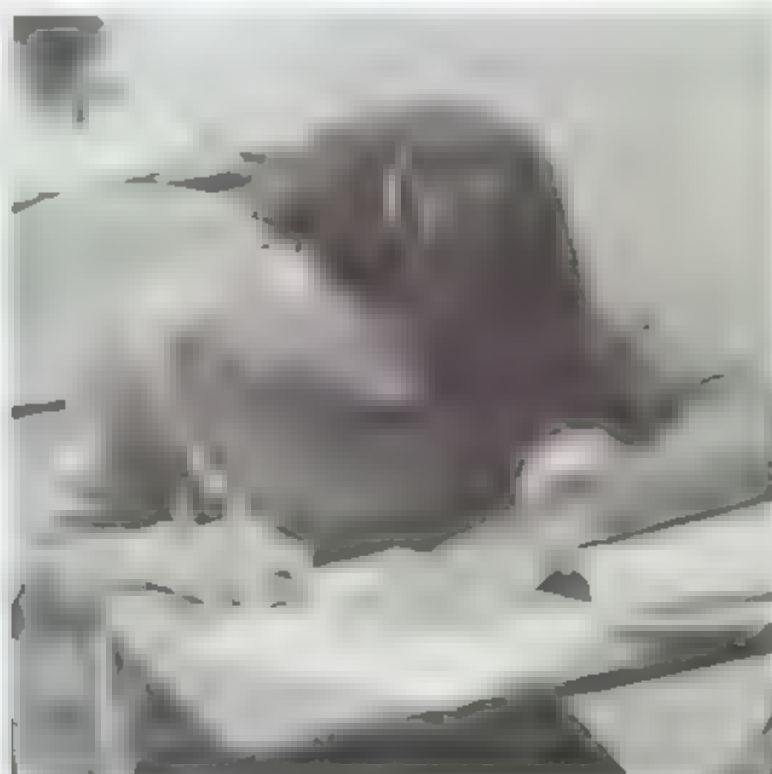

The emphasis within the math program stresses computational skills and the process skills required. Students should be able to search for and identify patterns, analyze given problems, verify findings, and compute.

Music Provides Harmony

The Sherman High School Music department has a wide variety of courses for the musically inclined students.

Freshman, JV, SHS Singers and A Cappella are the choirs available for the student who likes to sing. Along with having concerts, some of the students participate in music contests.

For the student who loves to play instruments there is Band and Orchestra.

The Bearcat Band, along with playing at the football games and pep rallies, participates in concerts and the All-Regional Band Contest.

Physical education encourages endurance

Health, Physical Education and Driver's Education are required courses for all students at Sherman High School

Health students learn about hygiene, body functions, alcohol and drug education. Students in P.E. play tennis, volleyball, basketball, flickerball and participate in the Governor's Fitness Award. Driver's Ed teaches the student how to drive a car in simulated and actual experience

Aides offer⁴ versatility

Students working in the office learned to be patient with people, sort attendance cards, write permission slips and answer the phone.

Students were graded on their attendance, attitude, and their ability to do jobs with little supervision.

Library assistants kept records of incoming magazines and papers. They helped to display magazines, as well as new library books. They also helped to shelve books and check them out to students.

Journalism Filled With Responsibility; Deadlines

The Publications staff room, now there's the place to be. If students are devoted, responsible, and able to withstand a lot of pressure, they are welcomed in A133. This is the department in Sherman High School that distributes the number one seller, the Athenian, and the school newspaper, Hi-Talk. This is also the room in which everyone knows everything about everybody or at least tries to find out. Anything from wet negatives to quad-paks can be found scattered out in this productive place, and if lucky, lost copy maybe found.

Staff members work many hours after school trying to put together all the loose ends and meet scheduled deadlines.

Investigation leads to new discovery

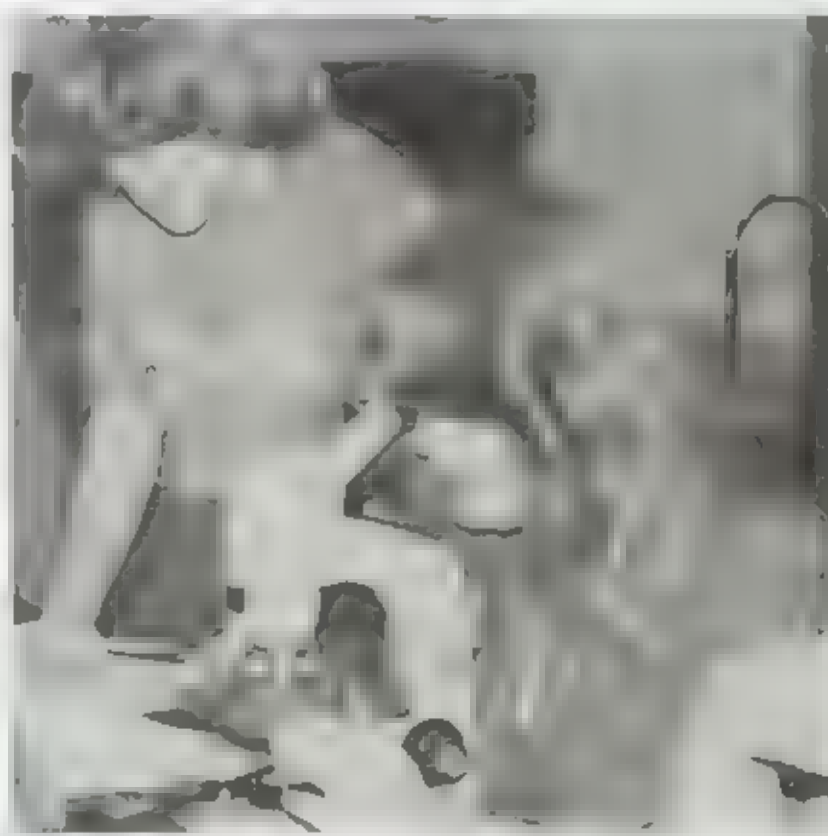

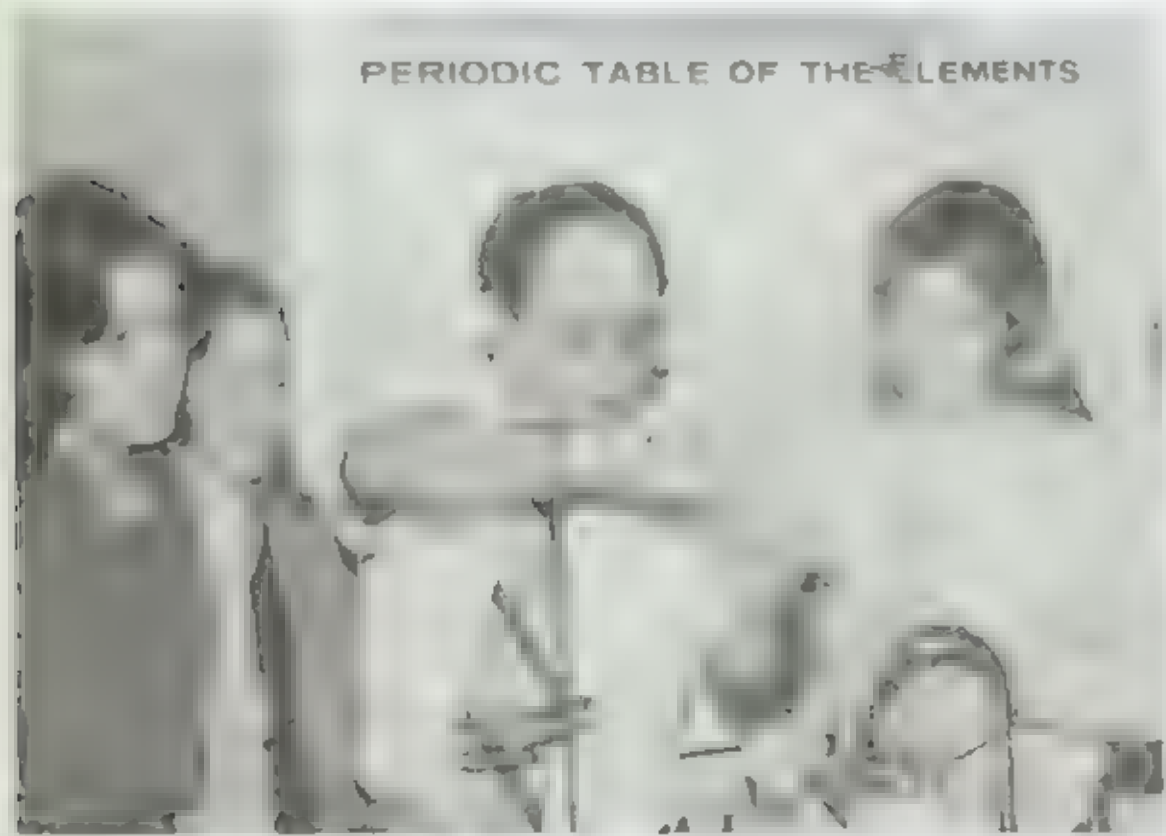

Looking through microscopes, working with test tubes, taking notes and doing labs are all part of the Science department.

Sherman High School students who are on the college plan struggle to complete four years of Science: Biology I, Chemistry, AP Biology, and Physics. For the student who is just trying to make a Science credit there is Physical Science.

Social Studies

Comparing world relations

The Social Studies department at SHS once again faced the challenge of teaching students about the ancient cultures, physical characteristics and current events of our great land. Film strips, guest speakers, and special class projects were only a few of the ways teachers emphasize the importance of social studies to their students.

Students managed to pick up a few facts here and there and even have a little bit of fun as they explored the unknown future by glancing back at the recorded past.

Vocational

Gaining Credits and a Career

With ever increasing opportunities for skilled, technically trained people in the work force, students at Sherman High School have an excellent opportunity to prepare themselves for advanced technical training or good jobs after graduation.

There are two types of Vocational classes at Sherman High School. The first type is the pre-employment lab classes. These include auto mechanics, building trades, cosmetology, drafting technology, machine shop and welding technology, radio and t.v. technology, marketing and distribution education pre-employment, vocational office education pre-employment lab, homemaking and production agriculture.

The second type program is the Vocational Cooperative training classes. Included in the Co-op programs are classes in Agricultural Co-op, Marketing and Distributive Education, Health Occupations, Home Economics Cooperative, Industrial Cooperative Training, and Vocational Office Education.

Band takes on new look

Stepping proud, hot and freezing weather, football games, 7:00 a.m. practices, rollers, pep rallies and chair tests are everyday events in the life of a band member.

Under the supervision of two new directors, Mr. Lee South and Mr. Dick Knoll, the band participated in the UIL Marching Contest and received an excellent rating. An addition this year was the Rifle Corps, and to take on a whole new look, equipment and flags were purchased.

Students participated in the UIL Concert and Sight Reading Contest. Six members earned the honor of being named to All-Region band. They were Cheryl Wible, Michele Ping, Phillip Bowers, Tracey Beaver and Debbie Lincecum. The annual fruit sale was held to sponsor the long awaited spring trip to Galveston.

Officers were: Allison Wilder, president; Cindy Anderson, vice president; Cheryl Wible, secretary; Elwood Reding, publicity chairman.

Representatives were: Dawn Bluemel, senior; Marvin Sprouse, junior; Tim Wilder, sophomore; Debbie Lincecum, freshman.

Drum Majors were: Leda Carpenter and Phillip Bowers. Twirler; Brenda Melton.

Singers endure tedious rehearsals

Members of Choral Department spent countless hours rehearsing for various concerts and contests

Maria Gomez, a member of the A Cappella Choir, was selected to All-State Choir

In February, UIL Solo and Ensemble Contest was held at Mesquite

Choir had a variety of parties ranging from a Halloween masquerade party to a Valentine's Day party

Officers consisted of: Dennis Jacobs, Maria Gomez, Sandra Harris, Amy Robinson, Larry Lynch, David Layman, Mary Barcus, Kellie Daniel, Debbie Stout, Jennifer Shaw, Karen Haagensen, Karen Riley, Susan Crowell, and Bonnie Cordell

New advisor brings innovative ideas

Under the direction of a new advisor, Mrs. Mary Lynn Jones, the Student Council participated in a variety of activities.

Members sponsored special dress days during Homecoming Week and hosted the Sherman-Denison Friendship Dinner.

They enabled all students to get into the Christmas spirit by decorating the halls and planning class parties.

Among the numerous assemblies were the band "Choyce" consisting of five SHS students and a visit from Congressman Ralph Hall.

In February, student council sponsored Black History Week and the traditional sale of Val-o-grams, carnations, and singing valentines. They also sponsored a Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Voters Elect Class Representatives

Each class at Sherman High School had the opportunity to elect class leaders to represent them in various school activities. These officers succeed in planning and carrying out many scheduled activities.

In order to run for class officer, a student had to carry a 2.0 average on his record. He then prepared and presented a speech with the other candidates in front of his class. Candidates also campaigned before the election. Almost all registered voters participated in the election of class officers.

MARIA

Maria Gomez, senior, was the only Sherman High student that was chosen for Texas All-State Choir this year. Not only that, but she made first chair. This is the highest honor a high school choir student can achieve.

Maria stayed in San Antonio Feb. 10-14 to participate in music clinics preparing for the special All-State Choir concert.

Besides being an excellent choir student, Maria made All-Region Orchestra three years.

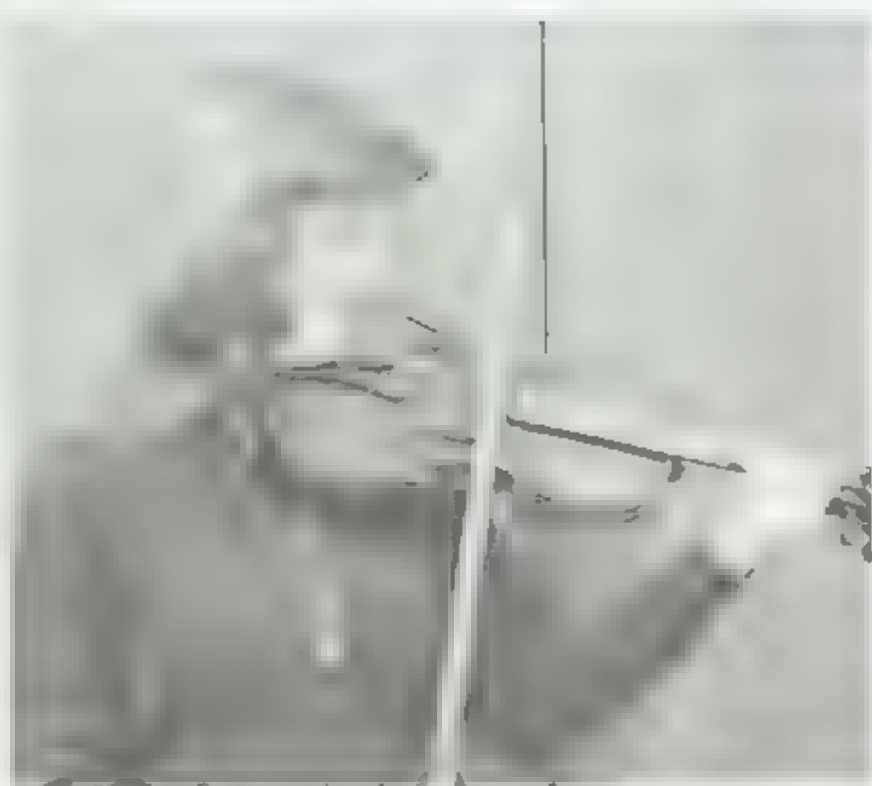

Kay Grisham, senior, received a McFadden Scholarship to Texas A&M. She was nominated by her counselor, Mrs. Evelyn Low.

Kay received the scholarship on the basis of the outstanding work she has put out in high school combined with her SAT score. In order to keep the scholarship, a grade point average of 3.0 or above must be obtained.

These seniors received this honor by scoring in the top one percent of all the students in the nation who took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test.

The finalists are determined on the basis of SAT scores.

Twenty Sherman High School Students have been accepted into this year's Gifted Leaders are Developed program. Staff members nominated these students to attend off campus seminars on leadership and communication skills. They will also work on individual projects.

The sponsors for this year's program were Mrs. Sandra Froese and Mrs. Connie Baker. The participants in the program were Donna Boyles, Becky Ball, Robin Schemmel, Kim Campbell, Prodige Patel, Larry Martin, Carol Sheppard, Lisa Walsh, Kerri Taylor, Sharon Allison, Kirk Baur, Keith Conway, Melinda Low, Susan Morse, Brian Pitman, Sandra Stewart, Julianne Kleesples, John Lowry, and Tracy Schemmel.

Carpenter reigns over festivities

"It was really shocking because I never thought it would happen to me," commented Leda Carpenter, 1981 Homecoming Queen.

Leda, representing the Maroon Marching Machine was crowned during the halftime activities of the Sherman-Dallas Pinkston game. Leda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carpenter.

A four year member of band, Leda served as drum major this year. She was also an active member of National Honor Society and Pan American Student Forum.

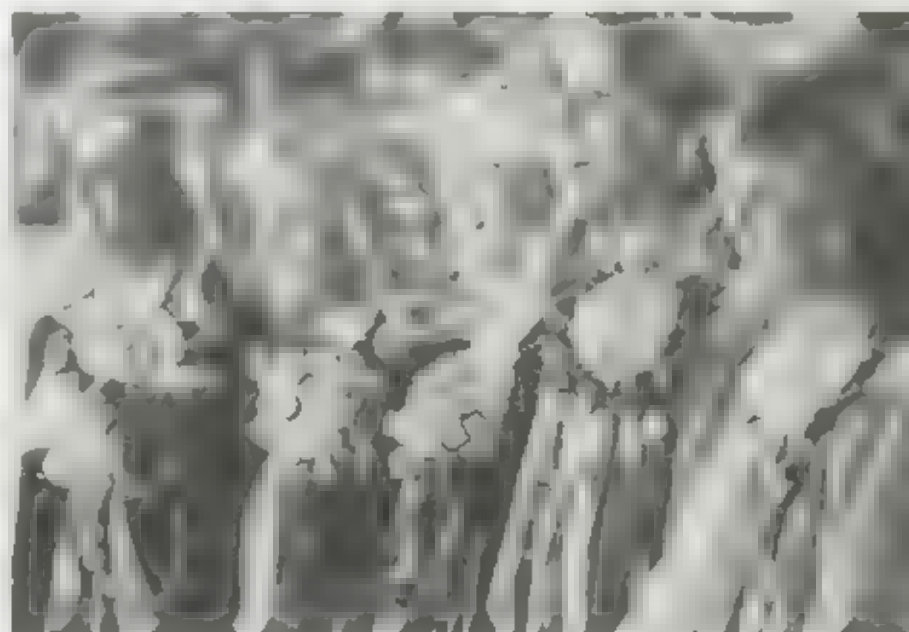

Hobbies enjoyed by Leda were swimming, sailing, cooking, and roller skating.

Presented with the traditional red roses, Leda was crowned by last years queen, Kim Scott.

Other finalists included Lori Bednarz; representing Auto Mechanics; lady-in-waiting, Dawn Bluemel; Metal Trades, Debbie Fleming; Mu Alpha Theta, and Shawna Soper; National Honor Society.

Fun and Frolic highlight homecoming week

Homecoming became a common word among students as excitement built for one of the biggest events of the year.

Activities began with the introduction of 28 nominees and their escorts to the student body. Candidates led a busy week with rehearsals, photo sessions, publicity, and necessary planning.

They later participated in the Homecoming parade along with numerous other school organizations including Band, Drill Team, Billy Bob Boys, Cheerleaders, Flag Corps and various clubs. Students then showed their spirit in a special pep rally at the municipal building.

Ballots were cast and finalists were announced to anxious students during the Homecoming Variety Show. Activities in the show included the FunTown Dancers, a Soft Shoe routine, Drill Team, several feature dance routines and a joke session by Den and Les.

Special Dress Days, Hat Day, Western Day, Jersey Day, Color Day, and 60's Day, were also held to build up student enthusiasm for the upcoming game.

Anticipation heightened on Friday night as the finalists were escorted on to the field at halftime by their fathers and the Queen and her Court were announced.

The Sherman Bearcats then went on to a 23-0 shut-out over Dallas Pinkston. Students continued to celebrate the victory during the Homecoming Dance. The theme was "The Best That You Can Do," the title song from the movie Arthur. Music was provided by "Bittersweet".

Homecoming Dance

A Lot of work behind big smiles

High kicks, grape suits, pulled muscles, big smiles, hair rollers, new routines, precision, skill, pep rallies, parades, basketball games, and hours of dedication and hard practice are all associated with becoming an outstanding Drill Team member.

A combined effort of each of the 62 members of the Drill Team ended in a rewarding and successful year for the devoted girls.

Attending the American Drill Team School at SMU in July, the officers of the Hi-Steppers received a first place award in marching and pom-pom, second in dance and the creativity award.

Sharon Smith, captain; Jean Lemons, Sr. Lt.; and Susan Sparazynski, Jr. Lt.; were presented the honor of Who's Who in All American Drill Team. In addition, Rhonda McCollum, Co-Captain; Terri Fry, Sr. Lt.; Sheila Leute, Sr. Lt.; Kim McClure, Jr. Lt.; and Marsha Krajewski, Jr. Lt.; also received four ribbons for dance, three for marching and two for pom-pom.

The organization is sponsored by Mrs. Karla Skipworth and managed by Angie Brewer and Anita White.

Workshop proves profitable

Cheerleaders are one of the most valuable assets of the school. With hard work and dedication, the cheerleaders serve as publication agents, ambassadors of good will, and true examples of school spirit.

The most difficult and necessary ingredient for achieving squad unity is cooperation. These girls worked on this goal at the SMU workshop this summer, receiving four superior ratings, and the spirit stick. They spend endless hours planning pep rallies, skits, special activities and making locker signs and breakthroughs to boost the player's spirit. The 1981-82 cheerleaders were: Laura Anderson, Lori Beane, Lori Bednarz, Cindy Blanton, Jenny Byler, Debbie Fleming, Laura Smith, and Anne Wertz. Sponsor was Ms. Dana Williams.

Dedication, determination keys to winning

After getting off to one of the best starts in four years, Sherman presented one of the most talented teams in the state.

Records were both broken and set with Sherman shutting out five straight opponents in the middle of the season. For the first time in fifteen years, Sherman downed the Highland Park Scotties. One of the most impressive records set was the naming of fourteen members to the District 6-5A Honors Team.

Sherman played a very physical season and met with untimely injuries to key players. Overcoming these injuries, Sherman posted their winning season with a 7-3 record.

J.V. Cheerleaders Promote Spirit

Cheerleaders help to promote spirit which fills the entire school atmosphere. They serve as a link between the team, the officials, and the audience.

Proving to be as effective as dynamite, the JV cheerleaders sparked off Bearcat enthusiasm throughout the year. Cheerleaders feel the heart-breaking agony of defeat and the thrill of victory.

They practice daily to perfect cheerleading skills to build the morale of the team members. Cheerleaders Amy Greiner and Susan Hase commented, "Cheerleading is very time consuming, but we really enjoy it." They also help the Varsity cheerleaders with ribbons and breakthroughs, as well as planning and preparing special treats and activities for their own team members.

The 1981-82 JV cheerleaders were: Kim Claybrook, Amy Greiner, Susan Hase, Barbie Wertz, Karen Mygrant, and Kelly Claybrook

Junior varsity achieve district recognition

Many people feel that JV Football is just a learning process for the Varsity, but Sherman's JV has its own rendition of football.

Despite not being selected to finish among the top teams, the Cats posted a winning mark of 5-2-2.

Coach Bruce Southerland praised the offensive line for allowing the team to control the ball.

A factor for having a winning season was the consistent play of the defense, which allowed an average of less than two touchdowns per game. Out of 9 games, the highlight of the season was the 41-6 crushing of Denison.

Frosh learn tricks of the trade

It takes more than skills to be a freshman cheerleader. Big smiles, poise, strength, and determination are also essential factors.

Cheerleading is a character builder in that a cheerleader must learn to cooperate with all the athletic teams, the student body and faculty. Half-time shows look spectacular to audiences, but the cheerleaders know hours of hard work are needed to perfect them.

The cheerleaders helped to promote the Freshman class spirit and enthusiasm throughout the year. The 1981-82 Freshman Cheerleaders for the White team were: Lisa Ford, Lisa Crook, Julie Bednarz, Kim Key, Trisha Huber, and Michelle Senn.

Maroon team cheerleaders were: Carolyn Buie, Jennifer Buie, LaDonna Burley, Cynthia Melugin, Tracy Schemmel, and Leola Luper. Sponsors were Mrs. Roberta Young and Mrs. Ida Hudgins.

The Maroon Cats defeated every opponent and outscored the opposition 200-56. The Maroon Team's preseason goal was to win the district championship. Lack of experience holds frosh back

Although the White Team posted a disappointing 0-8 record, they learned new techniques and gained valuable experience.

During this learning process, the White Team gave each of their opponents a hard-fought game.

As most people realized, this was a very important step for each player to become a part of a winning tradition.

Statistics show successful season

The Cats completed a competitive non-district schedule before going on to win the first round of the district 6-5A title. The Cats bounced back off a 79-74 defeat by McKinney at Reunion Arena, to a 74-64 victory over McKinney a game later, shooting an incredible 67 percent from the floor.

In the deciding game of the final half district title, the Cats pounded Denison by the score of 77-37 in a near perfect outing in a packed Sherman gym.

Leading the team throughout the year were offensive standouts Lee Olmstead and Carl Jackson. The Cats' power under the boards came from Greg Gittens and Scott Charleton. Steve Avard led the team with over 100 assists. During key games coach Bill Estes relied on bench support from juniors Brian Wright and Andy Olmstead.

JV captures crown

The Junior Varsity Girls Basketball team once again broke a record, with a 22-5 season, to capture the district 6-5A Championship. This established a new dimension in winning as they topped last year's mark of 15-10.

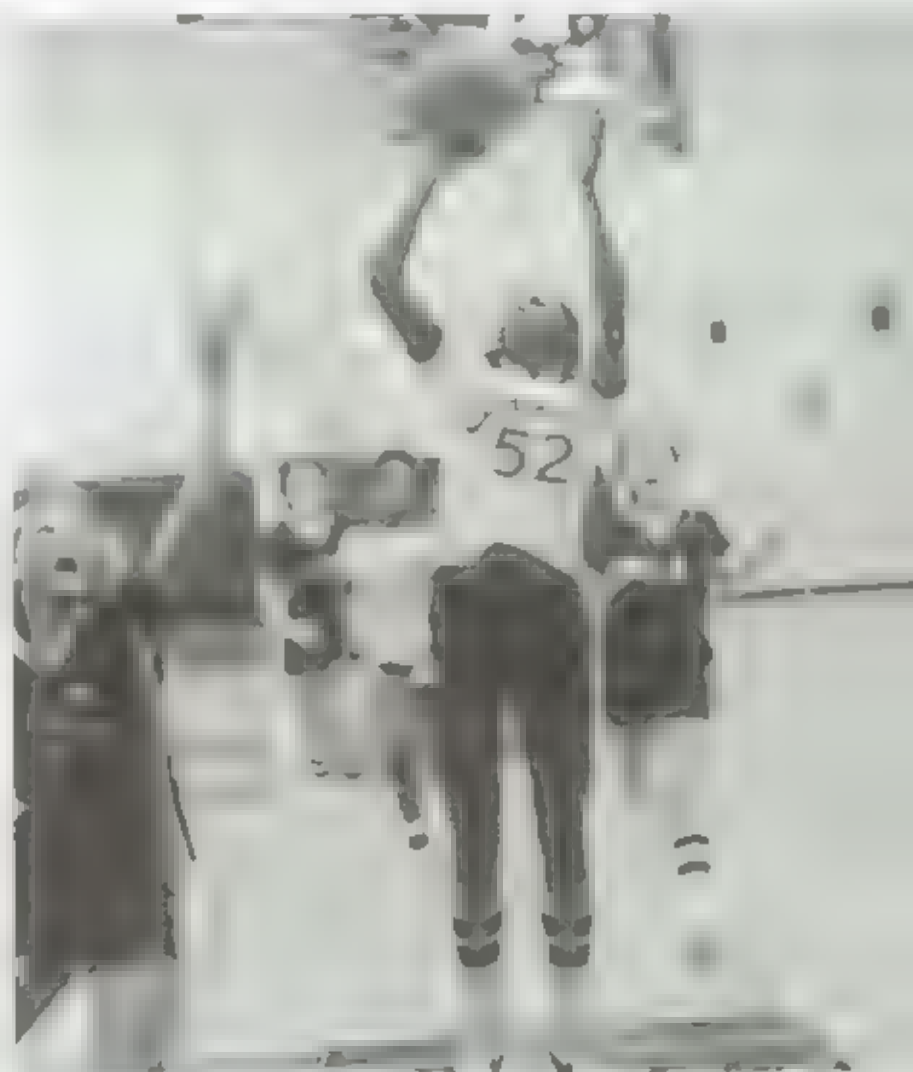

"This group of team-oriented girls set their goals high," stated Coach Mike Reece. "Hard work, effort and hustle have all contributed to their success."

The team was led in play by the scoring of Patricia Isabell, Shennell Cox and Greta Scruggs." The defense of Kerri Taylor and Lori Scott, and rebounding of Dana Dowell, and Mary Williams. Erica Swanson was also a standout as an excellent ballhandler and helping in pressure situations.

In clinch situations the team relied heavily on their excellent bench support.

Young team works together

As the Freshman Girls Basketball season came to an end, many players gained needed experience for future years at SHS. With a third place finish in the district tournament, Sherman won the consolation and provided spectators with promising hopes for the years to come.

Throughout the year, the Freshman team was led by the following players: Trina Walker, Debbie Reutelhuber, Wendy Douglas, Karen Riley, Carla Hudson, and Kelly Malacara.

With an overall record of 12-6, the Freshman Basketball team contributed to Sherman High's new winning tradition of the eighties.

Teamwork and optimism achieve success

The Bearcat Soccer Team set itself a goal this year to make the post-season playoffs as the fifth seeded team out of twelve.

Their new offensive alignment in the midfield with Dan Young, Eric Reutelhuber and Butchie Morales, along with innovative combination runs by forwards Jeff Rodaway, David Webb, and Scott Blanton allowed the Cats to outshoot their opponents in various games throughout the year.

The defense was controlled by senior goalkeeper Eddie Gonzales and sweeper Jeff Bledsoe

Track yields state contenders

Throughout the years, track has become one of Sherman High School's most successful sporting events. The 1982 Bearcat track team made no exception to this tradition

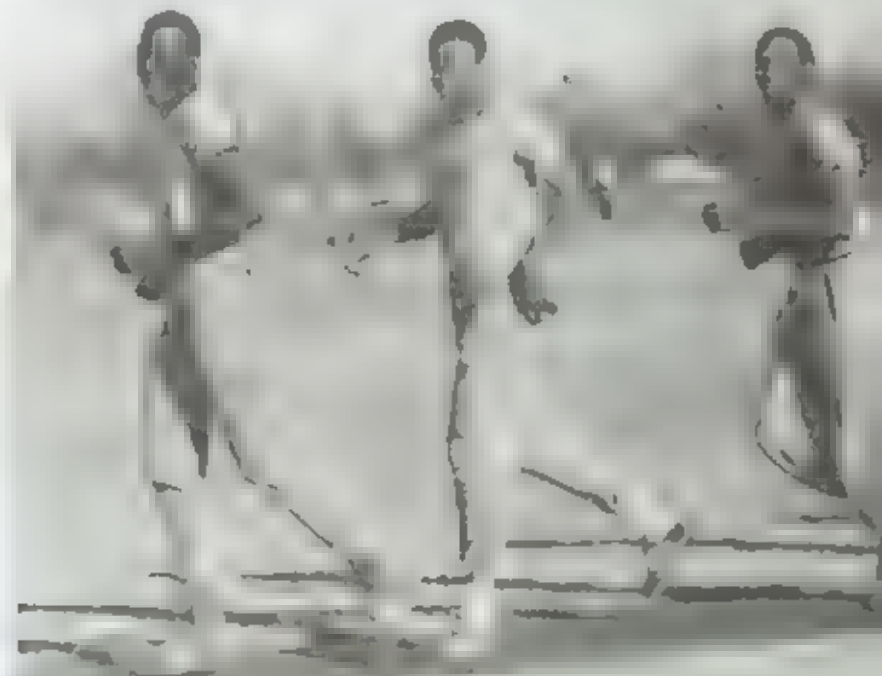

Many strong points were seen throughout the season by members of the sprint relay team, mile relay team, and hurdlers. The most expected standout of the season was Jerome Hollands' return to the State meet. Other standouts included Benja Major, Randy Chaney, and Stan Thomas on the relay teams

Strong competitors make difference

Strong competitors on the track provided the difference for the SHS girls track team throughout the 1982 season

Returning standouts for the girls team were Joyce Walker, Patsy Polk, Paula Guess, Tinitia Campbell, Mary Williams, and Patricia Isabell. Coach Mike Reece also added Helene Softly, Stacy Glidwell, Dorothy Chaffin, Kim Sawyer, Cynthia Scruggs and Terri Sawyer to the list of expected strong competitors in their events

Hughley, Young lead varsity cross-country

This year's Cross-Country team was led in a good attitude and outstanding dedication by Senior Barry Hughley and Junior Dan Young. During the season the team participated in five season meets and one district meet. Conditioning and discipline were dominant factors as the runners trained for the grueling three-mile races.

Golf stresses individualism

One of the most disciplined and time-consuming sports at SHS is golf. Leading players throughout the season included David Sheffield, all district as a freshman, Danny Alford and Roger Ragan.

During the season, three different rounds were held at Denton, Wichita Falls, and Tanglewood of Sherman. Sherman faced their toughest competition against Denton, who had eight returning lettermen.

Tanksters earn recognition

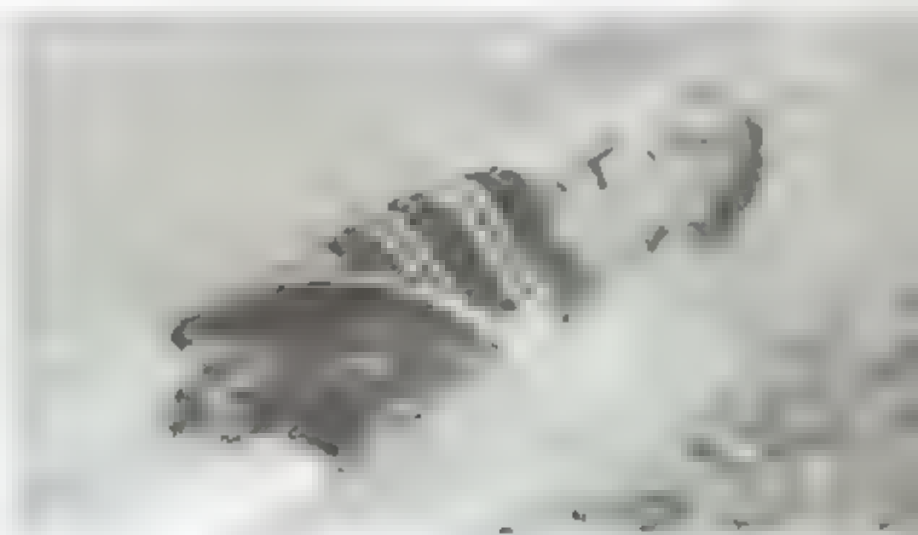

The SHS Swimming and Diving Team gained recognition and grew to 16 members during the 81-82 season. Throughout competition, each member produced faster and better times for all the athletes. "There was a dramatic improvement from beginners and solid performances from the varsity," commented coach Connie Baker.

Cats overcome weakness

Despite the loss of many experienced players to graduation, consistent play was expected from the few remaining lettermen. The major weakness for the 1982 Bearcat Baseball team was the lack of experience in the field.

Among the leaders of the Varsity team were Mike Ferguson, Paul Schneider, Ronnie Harrington, and James Jack. "These four players helped to strengthen the areas of pitching and catching," stated Coach Gary Benton

Tennis team swings into action

This year's Varsity Tennis Team has spent many hours of practice striving for perfection. Only the top five boys and girls were allowed to compete in tournaments in Gar and Duncanville. Trinity, Irving, and Belton. The team did especially well for their first tournament. Team members were Steve Jackson, David Brown, Tim Tate, Brent Barry, David Rylander, Meagan Beatty, Kim Abby, Jennifer Cooper, Sally Nicholson, and Whitney Charleton.

This past year has been spectacular for me. I have fallen in love with someone very special and dear to my heart. This VIP, this super special being has brought a new panoramic view to my eyes. I used to just sit and dream about castles in the air and about being in love. Now my ultimate fantasies have come to life. I have experienced the sensation of my first kiss and felt the warmth of holding hands with that special someone who cares about me. I have finally realized what it means to say "I LOVE YOU" and I now know the indescribable feeling of hearing someone say "I LOVE YOU" back to me. It is so assuring to know that whether I'm saying it or receiving it, it is delivered with great magnitude from within the heart and not from some silly poem. This special friend and love of my life has taught me how to gain a new perspective on life. This new world I live in allows me to spend endless moments talking, sorting out my problems and helping with his. I am allowed and encouraged to be myself and forget the worry when I don't exactly look or feel my best. I can joke around and feel young without being thought immature, or I can open up and cry on his shoulder without being ridiculed. I have learned to take a little and give a lot. I have learned to express my joy and sometimes hide my pain, but I would never put up a false front for fear of hurting my love. I have learned to be honest no matter what the cost and I have humbled myself to ask forgiveness when I know I am at fault. Best of all, I have experienced what some people only dream of. I have found the only person I ever want to share eternity with, and I refuse to accept any other. If this world of mine were to shatter and the pieces scatter about, I would much rather spend my days in oneness and solitude than share myself with anyone else. Therefore, there must be no one else. My destiny has arrived. For I am loved.

Did You Ever See a Sunrise?

Alice Weightman
Senior

Did you ever see a sunrise,
On a misty summer's morn?
Did you ever awaken early,
To see a new day being born?

Did you ever see in that day, The one you saw being given birth,
Something very special,
Heavenly, but fallen down to earth?

Did you get this feeling,
Of something new approaching your heart,
With all negative feelings,
Making their depart

Did you feel a little tickle,
Fill your heart and mind?
Did your heart giggle,
With joy being its bind?

Have you ever had the feeling,
That this has happened before?
Even if it has, love's intensity,
Each time envelopes more

Was that sunrise, something of your heart?
Was it the birth of your deepest soul?
Was it the sunshine spark,
To relight a fire that had gone cold?

Did you feel that a new life had begun,
Just as a sunrise announces the arrival of a new day?
Did you feel your season of winter,
Turn to the bright, brilliant month of May?

Did the sunrise stop,
And further over the horizon refuse to go?
Did the colors want to stay cool and captivating,
Soft and mellow?

Did it want to make sure,
That your heart would still shine?
Would it stay the lovely color,
Of pink-purple watermelon wine?

Did your heart, ever like the sun
Alone want to warm the skier?
Did you ever know that you could,
If you will glow, creating your own lavishing sunrise

This Is It

Well, this is it,
Our Big Senior Year
It is hard to believe
That it's finally here —
that graduation is so near!

As I look back on all the years,
And think about the good times and all the fun we've had,
It's sad to think that
It's all coming to an end.

The years sped by
In a hazy rush,
From first grade,
To your first big crush

Then its on to high school,
Pep rally, football games, traffic
jams in the halls,
With special girl friends and boyfriends and a new car. You thought you had it all

All the lost pens and pencils,
And the worn out erasers,
The shabby notebooks,
And the crumpled up papers.

Staying up late to study
Sleeping through class,
Worrying about that major test,
And hoping you'll pass

Sharing lockers —
Having one locker here and one locker there
Trying to make that winter coat fit,
Remembering which book is where!

And as I look back
On the good, as well as the bad times we've shared,
I'll treasure the memories
And the deep friendships that are rare

We did a lot of growing up,
We helped each other mature,
We helped prepare each other
For the experiences in life we will endure

And though life, at times, will be difficult,
As we go our separate ways,
I hope you will trust God to lead and guide
you,
And that happiness will forever fill your days.

Life is Blue

Blue, as the ocean waters
Life gushes with joy.
But sometimes, ending in a tidal crash
Life flows as water
Giving growth and beauty to everyone who has it.
Life is wonderfully water blue.

But crystal when melted from snow.
Life is blue as the skies are.
It can be covered with clouds,
Or warmed with the sun
The skys go on through eternity.
As life does
If your memories
Will allow life to live

Measured in the Heart

I think I smiled when first you said, "I wish I could be tall."

'Til then I never really thought about your size at all.

Who can measure feet and inches, when the spirit's truer measure has great dimensions that a friend
soon comes to treasure?

No instrument can tally height where loft mind has been;
Nor measure one whose spirit is cathedral tall within.

Spring Morning

On this spring clean morning,
I sit as the cool breeze,
Streams, blows, and sifts its way
Through the grass and trees.

As I look over the fields,
I begin to see,
The creations of God
The ones he gave to you and me.

As I look through the picket fence
I see flowers of a sunshine yellow and
They are full of life,
Dew drops crown their prickly heads

The smell of earth and honeysuckle,
Fill the air, tickling my nose
As the air is filled,
With the freshness and the smell of green apricots, and the blue bonnets as they grow

Birds are chirping in a pecan tree,
That is standing firmly and tall nearby.
I see birds swooping down,
And I hear the young ones that cry.

The trees sway and wave,
As if they are trying to say "Hello"
I answer back,
Then bid, "Cheerio!"

To a dotted and speckled, softly
Fluttering butterfly.
It makes its way over,
The yellow horizon of the sunshine sky

The bees make housecalls,
On flowers, to be a thief of their sweet nectar,
They light down to them,
Suckling it with their injector.

The breeze is undescrivable,
But describe it my best I will
It makes the young tender grass tremble,
As the mature stands strong and still.

The breeze comes in to port,
As smooth and as soft as fresh cream
It makes tiny ripples,
In the animals' drinking stream

The zephyr of air whistles,
Making its way through.
Rustling, Comforting,
The life and world around you.

The gales bring pollen,
That tickle and make me sneeze.
But there is nothing like the crispness,
Of a country morning breeze.

The boisterous, pneumatic winds
Bring moisture from the spring below.
The bellowing winds puff through
Leaving swiftly, bidding me back my own Cheerio.

The Victors

There's a precious gift that God grants a few. A that is unrivaled by material possessions and that endures the passage of all time. It is the gift of friendships.

The comradeship shared by two friends stands unquarable amidst the turmoils of life. It endured race and is crowned "victor" in the end.

You've truly been a Godsend to me. You knew of faults and yet accepted me as I was. When the race was long and the going rough, you carried me and helped me find my way.

You went that extra mile for me more than once. You gave me your arm to lean on when the load was heavy for me alone to bare.

You gave yourself, even when you had nothing left to give. The hope and encouragement I receive from your witness lifts my spirits when they're low.

Ours is a friendship that will last beyond a lifetime. I thank God for giving me a friend like you. We have endured the race . . . We are "The Victors."

Far Away Love

Although we're many miles apart
You're in my mind, you're my heart.

I think of you often, very much
I can feel your kiss, your gentle touch

When you're gone I seem happy, but it's all an act
I miss you Darling, I want you back

Now I may be out of your mind
But another like you, I will never find.

Remember these words, for they are true
Please never forget, I'll always love you.

Expression

I waited for the perfect moment
to say the words my heart
wanted to express

I loved you, well, but waited for the day to give it words more worthy of confession

I tabulated love in silent measure, counting life
a dearer thing for you

The wealth you gave became my heart's high treasure

Yet still I could not speak
the thanks I knew

I have found that waiting only waits in reticence that left it mute before

So now with an open vow
that compensates, I leave my little homage at your door

Forgive a tribute long over due, I blame a timid heart for such delay

Don't Promise Me "Forever"

I don't want to hear "commitment"
In your words when you are here,
And I don't want "forever"
In a dream to reappear.
Because, you see, I've seen it when
It didn't last that long
And then I have regrets for what
I really knew was wrong
Please, just don't say "forever," it
Just hurts me all the more.
Because sometime you just might say
"I'm sorry," through the door.
Please, I can't say "forever,"
It frightens me to think
Of things I may have said and done
While balanced on the brink
Of really letting my heart go —
"Forever," as it were.
And just believing that this time
No problems would occur.
You lie, to say "forever" is
A gift you've saved for me,
When someone else has heard that line
Before reality
Please, just don't promise
"For all time."
Not yet, I just can't take the pain if it should happen that this was all a mistake.
Please, just don't say "forever," and
Just maybe, then we'll find
A nice surprise if things work out
Until "the end of time."
Forever, well, it frightens me:
I seem to shy away
Because I'd just get hurt again
If you should leave someday.
So please, don't say "forever,"
I just still need time to live
Don't promise me "forever," when
It isn't yours to give

Success

Success is bright pink
It feels like an ocean in your stomach
It gushes and lets everyone notice you
Success with success is not letting it go to your head
Success makes you feel like the first daisy of spring
Success makes gray clouds blow the other way, and finding out how to get it
Success is setting a goal, and not letting it defeat you
Success can be your life, as your life can be success

My First Love, My Last Love

My first love was one that I'll never forget
I thought I loved him but he was like all the rest
He wrote me letters the words were sweet sensation
But now I am finding out it was only infatuation
He was my love, my true love only.
but he kissed me, held me & left me coldly.
Why, Oh why was I a fool to believe in him
People tried to tell me how he was but I ignored them
He told me I was the only one but later I found out
the lies had just begun.
I shed tears, cried for many days,
I didn't know what to do, didn't really know what to say
I said this is my first love, my last love, I will never do it again
Cause I'll always be broken hearted at the end.
So take it from me girls, don't fall for every guy
you see.
For at the end you will be broken hearted,
Broken Hearted like Me!

School board terms year successful

Although the problems of running a school system stocked with 5,825 students were many, the Sherman Independent School District managed to survive another year with little difficulty and much progress.

Superintendent Dr. Wendell Hubbard, and school board members Mrs. Charles Spears, Mr. Darold Adams, Mr. Percy Neblett, Mr. Keith Brown, Mrs. C. P. Jackson, Mr. George McGahren, and Dr. Geer McKee, met the second Tuesday of each month.

These dedicated people focused their attention on increasing attendance of SISD to 96 percent, improving proficiency on the TABS Test that are given to the Freshman class each year and to the Sophomores who did not meet minimum requirements, members also focused on obtaining a one month increase in the California Test of Basic Skills given in April.

To keep the public abreast of SISD progress, a public relations program distributed newsletters and statistical information during the entire 1981-82 year.

Principals instate advisory program

As head principal, Dr. Tony Fillman manages and supervises the academic program, student activities, and the new advisory groups at SHS. Before coming to SHS, Dr. Fillman was principal at Washington Elementary, Piner Middle School, and Alice High School in Alice, Tx. Dr. Fillman said there is nothing routine about his job. "I meet new people all of the time and I'm never bored," he added.

Helping Dr. Fillman at his time consuming job are four dependable and hard-working assistants, which include Mr. Bill McClure, Mr. Charles Byler, Mrs. Nan Jones, and a new addition to the staff, Mrs. Sandi Froese.

Mr. McClure has been with SHS for 24 years, first as a teacher then as an assistant principal, and according to him, "My favorite thing other than being on a romantic island is being at SHS with the student body."

As a former Kansas City Junior High principal, Mr. Byler has been at SHS for 13 years. Through the years, he has established a goal to increase attendance and decrease behavior problems.

Before coming to SHS as assistant principals, Mrs. Jones taught at Washington Elementary School and Mrs. Froese was a counselor at Dillingham Middle School. "I think all four of the principals do an excellent job," stated Dr. Fillman. Mrs. Jones has been here for two years, and this is the first for Mrs. Froese.

Faculty key to Sherman high's success

Dedication and understanding are two vital necessities for teachers and the SHS faculty are true to both.

SHS teachers go through the year communicating with and teaching a large variety of students, keeping parents up to date with their progress, and evaluating their accomplishments.

They not only are recognized at SHS for their teaching skills, but without them there would be unorganized classes, mocking in assemblies, and unsponsored clubs.

Many teachers volunteer to do outside work and participate in a variety of SHS activities. Their days very seldom end in an eight-hour routine. They often spend hours after school grading papers, planning and getting prepared for the next day — and backing the Bearcats to the very end.

Counselors work on personal basis

If students have personal problems, problems concerning classes, teachers or the future, an SHS counselor is one of the best persons to confer with.

The SHS counselors are not only highly skilled in their field, they are also filled with patience, understanding and wise thoughts to help students. Counselors do not tell students what and what not to do, however, they work with students with a variety of alternatives and advise them to make the best decisions that are right for them as an individual.

The advisory system at SHS is primarily concerned with improving the relationship between students and the administration. Each assistant principal along with a secretary and counselor is responsible for approximately one fourth of the total student body. The new system will enable counselors to become better acquainted with individual students because they will remain with a particular counselor throughout their education at SHS.

Secretaries lend a helping hand

Always willing to lend a helping hand, the SHS secretaries showed outstanding dependability to the administration.

These secretaries take on plenty of small responsibilities throughout the day. Answering the telephones and taking messages were just a couple of the jobs that the receptionist, Mrs. Rosalee Beck, did. Keeping account of the student attendance and call-ins were handled by Mrs. Marilyn Banks while Mrs. Kay Harris helped the nurse and counselors. Mrs. Frances Johnson kept clubs and activity fund financial records just as Mrs. Pat Crow was challenged by the time consuming job of teaching students office practices and supervising the other secretaries.

Typing, setting conferences, and keeping everything organized were just a few of the tasks endured by our secretaries. There's hardly ever a moment to spare. These secretaries were also appointed to a specific principal and counselor. Mrs. Johnson was assigned to Mr. Charles Byler and Mrs. Shirley Nichols; Mrs. Harris was assigned to Mrs. Sandi Froese and Mrs. Evelyn Low; Mrs. Banks was assigned to Mrs. Nan Jones and Mr. Larry Scott; Mrs. Beck to Mr. Bill McClure and Mrs. Dorothy Perkins, and Mrs. Crow assisted head principal Dr. Tony Fillman.

It's taken us twelve long years to achieve our "SENIORITY," and it feels good to know that graduation is soon to become a reality. We've suffered through first grade fright, third grade cooties, and ninth grade disillusionment, but we still seemed to keep coming back and striving to be number one

The world is now waiting for us with open arms and we're gonna knock 'em dead, because among the biggest and the best, the SENIORS of 82 outdo all the rest!!!

1. Lori Parrish, Denise Keeney, and Wes Boren discuss information at College night. 2. Tab Turman, Chico Rodriguez, Scott Richards, and Randy Jones work on English assignments. 3. Judy Means discusses homework problems with Mr. Jerry Lincecum. 4. Debra Brown and Rosa Pleasant discuss plans at College night. 5. Charles Hargrove checks out equipment

CONGRATULATIONS

LESLIE DUCKWORTH: Congratulations, Senior! We wish you luck, love, and happiness. Never forget we love you, Mom, Dad, and Robert

ELWOOD REDING: Thank you, Mr. WOOD, for sharing so much of your life with your family. The problems of being a parent have all been erased by your respect and honor for us. Your bright personality and witty sense of humor will make your life always fun. Love, Mom and Dad

CINDY FRANKS: The last of five, you have proven that the last is the best. We are proud of you and all the things you have done and will do. Be yourself, smile, and trust in God We Love You Mom, Dad, Roy, Deb, Tami, Sherri, Becky, Chris and Darrell

PAUL SCHNEIDER: Congratulations and best wishes. Hope your dream comes true; with God's help it will. Love, Mom, Dad, Jim, Nora, and Cathy

SHARON VRLA: Best wishes — We love you Mom, Dad and Bridget

JIM FALLON: Best wishes — We Love You — Mother and Dad

MICHELLE BRANSON: With pride and admiration, I have watched you become the lovely young woman that you are today. You meet life's challenges with courage, accept disappointments with grace, and are modest of your many accomplishments. You are an inspiration to all who know you. I am honored to have you as my daughter. Love, Mother

KIRK WORTHAM: Kirk, we take great pride in you. You've always been an independent thinker who never complains. We know that your accomplishments will be many, but most of all, we just hope that you will continue to be happy. Love Mom and Dad

ANTOINETTE JONES: Congratulations, you've only just begun. Thanks for 17 beautiful years. We are very proud of you. May you continue to work hard to reach your goals. May God bless you always. We love you very much. Mama, Daddy, and LaRhonda

ROBERT RITCHIE: We are very proud of you. It seems only yesterday you were small; now you are a young man starting on a new path. We wish you success, happiness, and most of all, love. Love, Dad, Mom, and Kathy

DAWN BLUEMEL: Congratulations! We are very proud of your accomplishments of the past and we are confident of the future. Thank you for sharing so much of your life with us. Good luck, happiness, and always remember we love you. Dad, Mom and Carl

GARY CARRINGTON: Thanks for the special joy and love you have added to our lives. Wish we had those wonderful and special years to live and enjoy again. Congratulations on your awards, honors and accomplishments. Live for Jesus Christ and let Him guide your life. Love always, Mom and Dad

KATHY BUTLER: A daughter is a special gift — a blessing from above. She's warmth, thoughtfulness, charm, and love. Kathy, you are all of these and more. You have filled our hearts with pride and have given us a very special joy. Walk with the Lord and He will guide you and bless you. Love, Mom and Dad

MARY MIKEL BARCUS: You have been the daughter that every parent hopes for. With courage you have met some of life's major challenges and have emerged a beautiful, intelligent, talented, and sensitive human being. Your Dad, Paige, and I are immensely proud of you and your accomplishments. Always remember who you are. You are special in this world and you are loved.

KATHY FOGLE: Kathy, you came into our lives as God's super surprise package, blessing us beyond measure! Life presents many "Surprise Packages" so daily choose to be filled with and controlled by the Holy Spirit — KNOWING — "If God Be For You — Who Can Be Against You!" Lovingly yours, Dad, Mom, David, and Karen

DONNA MARIE OLIPHANT: We are very proud of you, Donna. Remember what you send into the lives of others will come back into your own. No one has ever been honestly successful without the mighty hand of God. God bless and keep you in His care. We Love You. Daddy, Mom, Norma, and James

CINDY JONES: We have delighted in watching you grow into a sensitive, caring, and responsible young lady. May your future bring you as much happiness and joy as you have brought to your family over the past eighteen years. And remember — you can do anything you think you can. Love, Mother and Daddy

MARIA GOMEZ: Congratulations! You are a joy! So many wonderful years you have given us. Your lovely smile and the talent God has given you will now provide many more years of joy for others. We are all very proud of you. Just be "you" and remember whose child you are! We love you, Mother and Dad

DONNA KAREN BOYLES: Shug, we are proud to have an intelligent and talented daughter like you. Watching you grow up has given us great pleasure. May success and happiness follow you always. Remember not to keep your daddy out after curfew. He needs his rest. Love, Mom and Dad

BARRY HUGHLEY: Congratulations Barry, you have always been one to spread love and good will. This achievement that you have completed in the first milestone of your life has made us very happy. Faith and prayer will always help you in your new endeavor. We love you, Mom, Dad, L. Anthony, Anita, and Bruce

DHANA CRAWFORD: Ching, God has certainly smiled on us. Neither of you have failed as yet. From birth until now, we've always been so proud of you. 50% of life's journey was me pushing, 50% was Madea pushing, but now all 100% is left up to you!! 99½ just won't do. Go ahead! Proud of you, Mama and Daddy

SAVELLA BEATRICE BLANTON. Compiments to you, Senior of Nineteen-E ghty-Two. It seems like it was only yesterday when you were a little girl. Now that you are a young lady, I pray that your life will become increasingly enriched both spiritually as well as emotionally. Always remember God is smiling on you. I'm so proud of you, Mother.

The key to teaching trust is by being trustworthy to yourself. You teach caring by being sensitive to anybody you are dealing with. You teach respect by respecting yourself and others. We do not believe you can teach anything you are not personally practicing.

Let's Get America Rolling!

New cars ... New trucks ... Good to Look At. Good to Drive. Good for America and Americans. the U.S. auto industry accounts for one out of six jobs nationally.

Let's get American rolling. With new car and truck orders that put Americans back to work. And keep dollars in America.

Buy a car or truck built in the U.S. Get good value and a high-quality product. Boost the economy, and support the industry that's the backbone of our country.

The Strength to Advance

Sherman High School helped students to gain valuable qualities that would be carried throughout life: self discipline, confidence, and maturity. Most importantly, each individual learned to manifest the STRENGTH TO ADVANCE

Editors' Note...

As we reflect upon this year, the memories of deadlines seem to stand out above everything. Taking last minute pictures, writing copy the day of deadline, and struggling to get that perfect cutline were all familiar events to this year's staff. Although the work sometimes seemed monotonous, the pleasure of producing the 1982 ATHENIAN for you, the reader, made everything worthwhile. Here enclosed in these 408 pages we hope to help you hopefully bring back the moments that made this school year so special.

This has been a year of great joy, learning, and frustration, but mostly a feeling of great satisfaction for having completed this year's book. We feel this book would have never been possible without the help of several people to whom we would like to extend our thanks. Thank you faculty, to whom we are forever indebted for letting us out of class, time and time again. Thank you students, without whom this book wouldn't have been possible. Thanks also to sponsors, for the patience maintained during picture taking. A special thanks to the "staff" parents, for your understanding about late night "workdays." Thanks again to Taylor Publishing Co. for giving us the best representative. Thanks also to our advertisers, without whom this book couldn't have been published. In conclusion, thank you Mrs. Paula Morgan, our advisor, for having patience and supporting us all the way to the top. P.S. We could not dare to forget our tired, often overlooked Staff members. Thank YOU for leaving us with some of the best memories we'll ever have...

Our endurance lasted through Sunday evening research papers, early morning practices, and working to pass all of our subjects with flying colors.

Now we face the task of finding summer jobs, developing new interests, and the dream itself . . . graduating. The cycle never quite ends, but through it all we learn that patience comes slowly and the final results are ours to enjoy.

A few of the jokes may have failed and we may not have always had the last laugh, but as a whole, the past year has held many exciting surprises and produced many happy endings for students at SHS.

Just ahead of us lay lazy afternoons, gooey, dripping ice cream cones, and getting splashed by cool lake water. No one ever said life would be smooth sailing, but when we are faced with a choice, we all prefer to remember the best of times.

Left Page: 1. Tony Benedict blushes as Jeff Buckner, Kim Buckingham, William Kirby, Shonda Corley, and Jerry Roberts sing to him. 2. Cheryl Wible shows Bearcat spirit at the Senior pep rally. 3. Rusty Trevathan, Roger Snodgrass and Clint Putnam show similar interests. 4. Helene Softly, Tinitia Campbell, Barry Hughley, Myrtle Eder, and Mae Phea clown around in the commons. 5. Kerri Bennie keeps Jean Lemons from gawking at the photographer. 6. Mrs. Bobbie Gohke gets flashed by Elwood Reding.

Right Page: 1. Susan Sparazynski, Datra Parker, and Linda Henry chow down on pizza. 2. Bo McCord cheeses for the photographer. 3. Leslie Duckworth, Billy Keene, and Julia Kever enjoy working voting precinct. 4. Sheila Leute and Annela Meugin enjoy party goodies. 5. Joe Kulhavy spooks for the camera. 6. Richard Spears and Cooper McEhannon in concentrated study.

There were times when we wanted to cry, and times that we felt if we started over on that paper one more time we were going to forget the whole assignment, but through it all, we kept our spirits alive in hopes that we would reach that star that we had set out to grasp.

The future is coming on strong and we will be responsible for the achievements as well as the failures that take place around our community and around the globe. To insure the world that we can cope, we must hold on to the American dream of striving to excel in all facets of life. When the future looks dim, students at Sherman High School always come shining through.
